This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

MESSAGE

FROM THE

PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

COMMUNICATING,

In answer to a Senate resolution of January 10, 1877, a report of the Secretary of State in relation to claims on the part of citizens of the United States and Mexico under the convention of July 4, 1868.

FEBRUARY 2, 1877.—Referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations and ordered to be printed.

---

To the Senate of the United States:

I transmit, in answer to a resolution of the Senate of the 10th ultimo, a report of the Secretary of State, with its accompanying papers.

U. S. GRANT.

WASHINGTON, February 2, 1877.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, Washington, February 2, 1877.

The Secretary of State, to whom was referred the resolution of the Senate of the 10th ultimo, requesting the President, "if not in his opinion incompatible with the public interests, to transmit to the Senate the report of the Commissioners to adjust the claims between citizens of the United States and Mexico under the conventions of 1868, 1871, and 1876," has the honor to state that the Commissioners made no report to the Department of State on the business of the commission and the disposition made thereof, under the convention of July 4, 1868, and the conventions supplementary thereto.

By the convention of November 20, 1874, the functions of the commissioners terminated on the 31st of January, 1876, and the Umpire was allowed a further period of six months for the decision of the cases referred to him, which period was extended by the convention of April 29, 1876, until the 20th of November, 1876.

The Umpire decided all the cases referred to him within the period thus named, and, on the 23d of November, 1876, the Agent of the United States made a partial report to this Department on the business of the commission, transmitting therewith lists of the claims on the part of citizens of the United States against Mexico, and on the part of citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States, in which awards of money were made by the Commissioners and the Umpire, and of the several balances in favor of citizens of the United States, in the three kinds of money in which said awards are expressed. On the 29th ultimo, the Agent of the United States made a further and final report on the history and business of the commission, and transmitted to the Department certain schedules containing all the claims presented to the commission by the respective governments, showing the names of the claimants, the general subject-matter of their respective claims, the times when and the places where they arose, the amounts claimed, the nature of the final decisions thereon, and the amounts of money awarded where awards were made.

The several reports of the Agent of the United States of the 23d of November and 29th of January last, and the lists and schedules accompanying them, are herewith transmitted.

Respectfully submitted.

HAMILTON FISH.

To the PRESIDENT.

PRELIMINARY REPORT

J. HUBLEY ASHTON, Esq.,

AGENT OF THE UNITED STATES BEFORE THE UNITED STATES AND MEXICAN CLAIMS COMMISSION,

TO

THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 23, 1876.

SIR: The Umpire under the convention between the United States and the Mexican Republic of July 4, 1868, having concluded his labors by the decision of all the cases referred to him by the commissioners within the time allowed by the convention of April 29, 1876, I am now able to report the general results of the action of the commission upon the claims laid before it by the respective governments.

Within the time limited by the convention of July 4, 1868, 1,017 claims on the part of citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic were referred to the commission, aggregating, including damages and interest where they were claimed, $470,126,613.40. Of these claims, 831 were dismissed or disallowed, and in 186 cases awards were made in favor of the respective claimants against the Mexican Republic.

The total amount awarded in all the cases decided in favor of citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic, in the three kinds of money in which the awards are respectively designated to be payable, namely, the currency of the United States, the gold coin of the United States, and Mexican gold dollars, including interest and costs in cases in which they were allowed, as appears by the statement prepared by the American Secretary, is $4,125,622.20.

Within the same period, 998 claims on the part of citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States were referred to the commission, such claims aggregating, including damages and interest where claimed, the sum of $86,661,891.15. Of these claims, 831 were dismissed or disallowed, and awards were made in 167 cases against the United States.

Of the 167 cases in which awards were made against the United States, 150 belonged to the class of claims known as the "Piedras Negras cases," which were treated and disposed of by the Commissioners as one case, so that in fact the number of cases in which such awards were made is 18.

The total amount awarded in all the cases decided in favor of citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States in the three kinds of money above mentioned, including interest and costs in cases in which they were allowed, as appears by the statement of the American Secretary, is $150,498.41.

The balance in favor of citizens of the United States, in the three kinds of money above mentioned, is, therefore, $3,975,123.79.

It is proper for me to mention, in explanation of the foregoing statement, that the Commissioners and the Umpire in making their awards employed three kinds of money. In some cases the amounts awarded are stated to be in the currency of the United States; in other cases, the awards are expressed in the gold coin of the United States; and in still others, the sums allowed are declared to be in Mexican gold dollars.

I call attention also to the fact that in the awards in several claims on the part of citizens of the United States portions of the amounts respectively allowed are expressed to be in the currency of the United States, and other portions are expressed to be in the gold coin of the United States.

The tables herewith transmitted, prepared from the records with great care by Mr. Randolph Coyle, the American Secretary, and Mr. John H. Ingle, of my office, exhibit the amounts of the respective awards in favor of the citizens of each government, including interest and costs in cases where interest and costs were allowed, in the several kinds of money in which the awards are respectively expressed.

I should also mention that the Commissioners and the Umpire made several declarations or orders for the purpose of interpreting expressions employed in several of their respective awards, relative to the currency in which amounts allowed in those awards should be respectively payable, and that those declarations or orders have been considered and applied in the preparation of the statements contained in the tables herewith transmitted.

The tables show that the total amount awarded in the currency of the United States, including interest and costs where they were allowed, in all the cases decided in favor of the citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic, is $402,942.04, and that the total amount awarded in the currency of the United States, including interest and costs where they were allowed, in all the cases decided in favor of the citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States, is $89,410.17, leaving a balance in the currency of the United States in favor of citizens of the United States of $313,531.87. They also show that the total amount awarded in the gold coin of the United States, including interest and costs where they were allowed, in all the cases decided in favor of citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic, is $426,624.98, and that the total amount awarded in the gold coin of the United States, including interest and costs where they were allowed, in all the cases decided in favor of the citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States, is $10,559.67, leaving a balance in the gold coin of the United States in favor of citizens of the United States of $416,065.31. It further appears by the tables transmitted that the total amount awarded in Mexican gold dollars, including interest and costs where they have been allowed, in all the cases decided in favor of the citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic, is $3,296,055.18, and that the total amount awarded in Mexican gold dollars, including interest and costs where they were allowed, in all the cases decided in favor of citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States, is $50,528.57, leaving a balance in Mexican gold dollars in favor of citizens of the United States of $3,245,526.61.

These several balances make the total balance in the three currencies in favor of citizens of the United States above stated of $3,975,123.79.

It has been necessary, for the purpose of ascertaining the total amounts of the awards in a large number of the cases, to calculate the interest allowed upon the principal sums respectively awarded from the several dates fixed in the awards to the time when it was provided that interest should cease.

It would have been more satisfactory if the Commissioners and the Umpires had deemed it convenient to make their awards, in cases in which they allowed interest, definite, by computing the interest and awarding a certain aggregate amount in each such case. The practice, however, was to award interest where it was allowed, in general terms, from some date ascertained or referred to, "to the close of the labors of the commission," or "to the date of the final award," or in words of the same import and effect.

The Commissioners, on the 25th of January, 1876, before their final adjournment, entered an order declaring that in all cases decided by them wherein interest was allowed "to the close of the labors of the commission," such interest should be calculated to the date of the last decision the Umpire should make within the time then limited for the completion of his labors by the convention of November 20, 1874.

The Umpire, Sir Edward Thornton, made a declaration on the 31st of January, 1876, determining that, in all cases decided by him wherein interest was allowed "to the date of the final award," that date should be considered to be the date of the last award which the Umpire should make in accordance with the terms of the convention of November 20, 1874; that is to say, of the last award which the Umpire should sign on or before the 31st of July, 1876.

Under date of the 31st of July, 1876, the Umpire made a declaration to the effect that his award in the case of Geronimo de la Garza vs. Mexico, No. 993, bearing date the 31st of July, 1876, was the award alluded to in the order of the Commissioners of January 25, 1876, and that the date of the 31st of July, 1876, is the "date of the final award" to which he had himself referred in his decisions in which he had awarded interest from specified dates "to the date of the final award," or had made use of words to the same effect.

And finally, upon the suggestion of the Agents of the two governments that the former Umpire, Dr. Francis Lieber, made divers awards with interest from particular dates "to the close of the labors of the commission," or made use of similar terms to fix the limit of time to which interest on those awards should be calculated, and had died without making any declaration as to the meaning of those expressions, the Umpire, Sir Edward Thornton, made an order under date of the 17th instant "that in all awards of money made by his predecessor, the late Dr. Lieber, wherein interest is allowed 'to the close of the labors of the commission,' or other similar terms are employed to fix the date to which interest shall be calculated, the 31st of July, 1876, shall be deemed and taken to be such date."

It appears, therefore, that all uncertainty as to the date to which interest should be calculated on the principal sums respectively awarded in the cases contemplated and embraced by the orders of the commissioners and the umpire which have been recited has been removed, and that the date of the 31st July, 1876, has been authoritatively fixed as the date to which the interest awarded in those cases respectively should be calculated.

The tables herewith transmitted contain schedules respectively of the claims on the part of citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic, and of the claims on the part of citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States, in which awards of money were made by the Commissioners or the Umpires, and statements of the amounts of the respective awards in the several kinds of money in which they are respectively expressed, according to the terms of the decisions respectively, or the declarations or orders to which I have referred, explaining or interpreting those decisions.

The statement of the total amount awarded in each case includes the interest and costs where they were allowed.

I have called attention to the fact that in several of the American cases portions of the amounts respectively awarded are expressed in the currency of the United States, and other portions of those amounts are expressed in the gold coin of the United States. In all the cases of this class, with one exception, the sums respectively awarded in the currency of the United States were allowed for costs.

In numerous instances interest was allowed upon particular amounts awarded, while it was expressly disallowed upon other amounts awarded in the same cases.

In several cases awards were made of particular sums bearing interest from different dates, subject to certain deductions or credits, with interest from various dates; and the liquidation of the items of the awards, with the view of arriving at the proper total awards in this class of cases, has been a matter of no little nicety of calculation.

Calculations of the interest in the cases in which interest was allowed were made independently of each other by Mr. Coyle and Mr. Ingle, who are expert arithmeticians, and I find that in every instance their separate computations produce the same result.

I am informed that the calculations of interest which have been made on the Mexican side agree with those made on the American side of the commission, and that the several balances in favor of citizens of the United States in the three kinds of money in which the awards are respectively made, as furnished to Mr. Mariscal by the gentlemen on the Mexican side, are the same amounts as those herein reported from the statement furnished me by the American Secretary.

The statements in the tables herewith transmitted are, therefore, of the total amounts of the awards in the respective cases therein mentioned, including the principal sums respectively awarded and the interest and costs awarded, where interest and costs were allowed as ascertained by the calculations to which I have referred.

It has not been the practice of the Commissioners or the Umpires to formulate and sign awards separate from their opinions.

The opinions, both upon claims allowed and claims dismissed or disallowed, contain in most instances full and sometimes lengthy expositions of the grounds of the decisions. The opinions are not in print. I think, however, the Department will find it convenient to possess printed copies, at least of so much of the opinions as constitute the awards of money in the claims allowed by the Commissioners or the Umpires, and of the various declarations and orders to which I have referred, explanatory of the decisions. I suppose they would make a pamphlet of about two hundred pages.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. HUBLEY ASHTON.

Hon. HAMILTON FISH,
Secretary of State.

FINAL REPORT

J. HUBLEY ASHTON, Esq.,

TO

THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

WASHINGTON, January 29, 1877.

SIR: As the Agent of the United States before the commission constituted by the convention of July 4, 1868, for the adjustment of claims between the United States and the Mexican Republic, I had the honor, on the 23d of November last, to report to you the general results of the action of the commission upon the claims laid before it by the respective governments, and to transmit schedules respectively of the claims on the part of citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic, and of the claims on the part of citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States, in which awards of money were made by the Commissioners and the Umpires, showing the amounts of the respective awards, and of the several balances in favor of citizens of the United States, in the three kinds of money in which the awards are expressed.

The schedules transmitted, under cover of my letter of the 23d of November, contain only the names and docket numbers of the several cases laid before the commission by the two governments, in which awards of money were made by the Commissioners or the Umpires in favor of the respective claimants.

I have now the honor to transmit the accompanying schedules, containing all the claims presented to the commission on the part of citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic, and on the part of citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States, in their order as filed and numbered on the American and Mexican dockets, respectively; showing the names of the claimants, the general subjects-matter of their respective claims, the times when and the places where they arose, the amounts claimed, the nature of the finald ecisions thereon, whether by the Commissioners or the Umpire, and, where allowed, the amounts of money awarded the respective claimants, as stated in my previous report of the 23d of November ultimo.

These schedules exhibit, in a condensed form, of course, the general nature and character of the claims referred to the commission by the respective governments, and the results of its labors in the investigation and decision of those claims; and they will doubtless be found very useful to the Department as means of obtaining ready information, from time to time, in regard to the action of the commission in particular cases. There is also transmitted an index to the schedule of American claims by docket numbers.

The convention of July 4, 1868, was the second treaty concluded between the United States and the Mexican Republic, for the adjustment of private claims through the instrumentality of a joint or mixed commission.

The convention of April 11, 1839, provided for the submission of the claims of citizens of the United States upon the Mexican Government, to a board composed of four commissioners, two appointed by the President of the United States and two by the President of the Mexican Republic, and, in case of their disagreement, to an arbiter or umpire appointed by and acting in behalf of His Majesty the King of Prussia.

Under that convention the Hon. William L. Marcy and the Hon. John Rowan (the latter succeeded by the Hon. H. M. Brackenridge) were appointed the commissioners on the part of the United States, and Señors Pedro Fernandez del Castillo and Joaquin Valasquez de Leon, the commissioners on the part of the Mexican Republic. His Majesty the King of Prussia appointed the Baron von Roenne to act as umpire in his behalf.

This commission adjudged a number of the claims laid before it, but its time expired before the completion of its work, and the undecided cases remained unsettled until after the conclusion of the treaty of peace of February 2, 1848, known as the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo.

By the thirteenth article of that treaty the United States engaged to assume the claims decided against Mexico under the convention of 1839; and by the fifteenth article they exonerated that republic from all claims of American citizens, not theretofore decided, which had arisen prior to February 2, 1848, and agreed to make compensation for such claims, to an amount not exceeding three and a quarter millions of dollars.

By the fifteenth article of the treaty of 1848 it was also agreed that, to ascertain the validity and amount of the outstanding and undecided claims from which Mexico was thus exonerated, a board of commissioners should be established by the United States, whose awards should be final and conclusive.

The act of March 3, 1849, provided for such a board, and the Hon. George Evans, the Hon. Robert T. Paine, and the Hon. Caleb B. Smith were appointed the commissioners.

All claims on the part of citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic, arising out of transactions prior to the 2d of February, 1848, were thus finally adjusted by means of the mixed commission under the convention of 1839, and the ex parte commission under the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo.

The convention of July 4, 1868, under which the late commission derived its authority, was entered into for the purpose of adjusting the claims of citizens of the United States against the Mexican Republic, and the claims of citizens of the Mexican Republic against the United States, arising out of transactions of a date subsequent to the 2d of February, 1848; and the object of the convention, as declared by its preamble, was "to maintain and increase the friendly feeling between the United States and the Mexican Republic, and so to strengthen the system and principles of republican government on the American continent."

The jurisdiction of the commissioners extended to all claims on the part of corporations, companies, or private individuals, citizens of the United States, upon the government of the Mexican Republic, arising from injuries to their persons or property by authorities of the Mexican Republic, and of all claims on the part of corporations, companies, or private individuals, citizens of the Mexican Republic, upon the Government of the United States, arising from injuries to their persons or property by authorities of the United States, which may have been presented to either government for its interposition with the other since the signature of the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo of the 2d of February, 1848, and which remained unsettled, as well as to any other such claims which might be presented within eight months from the day of their first meeting.

The convention provided that every claim should be presented to the Commissioners within eight months from the day of their first meeting, unless in cases where reasons for delay should be established, when the period for presenting the claims might be extended to a time not exceeding three months longer.

These claims were to be impartially and carefully examined by the Commissioners, and decided "to the best of their judgment according to public law, justice, and equity," and the high contracting parties agreed to consider the result of the proceedings of the commission "a just, perfect, and final settlement of every claim upon either government, arising out of any transaction of a date prior to the exchange of the ratifications of the convention."

The jurisdiction of the commission embraced, therefore, claims arising out of transactions subsequent to the 2d of February, 1848, and prior to the 1st of February, 1869, the date of the exchange of the ratifications of the convention.

The respective governments agreed to give full effect to the decisions of the Commissioners or Umpire, "without any objection, evasion, or delay whatsoever;" and further engaged that all claims within the jurisdiction of the commission, whether presented or not for its consideration, should, from and after the conclusion of its proceedings, "be considered and treated as finally settled, barred, and thenceforth inadmissible."

One commissioner was to be appointed by each government; and the two were to name some third person to act as umpire in cases in which they might differ in opinion, and if they failed to agree upon such person, each commissioner was to name an umpire, and the umpire in every case in which the commissioners disagreed was to be selected by lot from these two.

The convention provided that each government might name one person to attend the commissioners as agent on its behalf, to present and support claims in its behalf, and to answer claims made upon it, and to represent it generally in all matters connected with the investigation and decision of the claims.

The commissioners and the umpire were required to keep an accurate record and correct minutes of their proceedings, and for that purpose to appoint two secretaries versed in the language of both countries to assist them in the transaction of the business of the commission.

Such were some of the more important provisions of the convention of July 4, 1868, which was apparently framed upon the general model of the British and American convention of February 8, 1853, for the adjustment of private claims between the United States and Great Britain.

The Hon. William Henry Wadsworth, of Kentucky, was appointed the Commissioner on the part of the United States, and Señor Don Francisco Gomez Palacio was first appointed Commissioner on the part of the Mexican Republic. He was succeeded by General Leon Guzman, who was succeeded by Señor Don Manuel Maria de Zamacona.

The Commissioners, after various conferences, named Dr. Francis Lieber, of the Stat York, to act as Umpire.

Dr. Lieber having died on the 2d of October, A. D. 1872, the Commissioners agreed upon the Right Honorable Sir Edward Thornton, K. C. B., Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States of Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain, as Umpire.

Joseph Hubley Ashton, esq., of Pennsylvania, was named by the President of the United States the Agent of the United States before the commission, and the Hon. Caleb Cushing, of Massachusetts, was named by the President of the Mexican Republic the Agent to attend the commission on behalf of that government. Mr. Cushing was succeeded by Señor Don Manuel Aspiroz, and he, in turn, by Señor Don Eleuterio Avila, who continued in the performance of his duties to the termination of the commission.

The Agent of the United States was assisted in the performance of his duties, at different times, by the Hon. William Marvin, of New York, and the Hon. Charles P. James, of Ohio.

Mr. George G. Gaither, of Kentucky, and Señor Don J. Carlos Mexia, of the city of Mexico, were appointed the Secretaries of the commission. Upon the resignation of Mr. Gaither, Mr. Randolph Coyle, of the city of Washington, was appointed one of the Secretaries, and continued in the execution of his duties till the close of the commission.

The first meeting of the Commissioners occurred on the 31st of July, 1869. At the expiration of eight months therefrom the Commissioners, under the authority of the third article of the convention, extended the time for presenting claims to a further period of three months.

As the convention provided that all claims which might have been presented to either government for its interposition with the other, since the signature of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo of February 2, 1848, as well as claims which might be presented within the time specified in article III, should be referred to the commission; and further, that all claims not presented to the notice of, made, preferred, or laid before the commission, should be considered and treated as finally settled and barred, the respective governments caused all applications for redress coming within the period prescribed by the convention, to be submitted for the action of the commission.

Mr. Seward, writing to Mr. Corwin, the American Minister to Mexico, on the 6th of April, 1862, said:

"I find the archives here full of complaints against the Mexican government for violations of contracts and spoliations and cruelties practiced against American citizens. These complaints have been lodged in this Department from time to time, during the long reign of civil war in which the factions of Mexico have kept that country involved, with a view to having them made the basis of demands for indemnity and satisfaction, whenever government should regain in that country sufficient solidity to assume a character of responsibility."

Soon after the organization of the commission the claims and complaints lodged in the Department of State and in the American Legation at the city of Mexico, since the 2d of February, 1848, were transmitted by the Secretary of State to the commission, and the cases were placed upon the docket of American claims. The greater number of American claims laid before the commission were brought, for the first time, to the notice of the Government after the conclusion of the convention, and within the eleven months allowed for the submission of claims to the commission.

The American claims presented to the Department of State prior to the conclusion of the convention, and referred to the commission at its organization, numbered 330, while the American claims brought to the attention of that Department after the organization of the commission, and referred by the Secretary of State within the eleven months from the date of the first meeting of the Commissioners, numbered 687.

The following is a statement of the number of claims against each government, laid before the commission, and the conventional period within which they were referred:

| | Against Mexico. | Against the United States. |
|---|---|---|
| Within the eight months from the first meeting, which expired March 31, 1870 | 894 | 908 |
| Within the additional three months, which ended June 30, 1870 | 123 | 90 |
| Totals | 1,017 | 998 |

In my letter of November 23, 1876, it is stated that the 1,017 claims on the part of citizens of the United States against Mexico aggregated, including damages and interest, $470,126,613.40; and that the 998 claims on the part of Mexican citizens against the United States aggregated the sum of $86,661,891.15.

The convention of July 4, 1868, limited the period for the duration of the commission to two years and six months from the day of the first meeting of the Commissioners, which period expired on January 31, 1872.

By the subsequent conventions of April 19, 1871, November 27, 1872, and November 20, 1874, the time for the duration of the commission was prolonged until the 31st day of January, 1876.

The convention of November 20, 1874, provided that, if the umpire should not have decided all the claims referred to him by the 31st day of January, 1876, when the functions of the commissioners would terminate under that convention, he should be allowed a further period of not more than six months for that purpose.

It appearing that the Umpire would probably be unable to decide all the cases referred to him by the 31st of July, 1876, it was agreed by the convention of April 29, 1876, that he should be allowed a further period until the 20th day of November, 1876, for that purpose.

By the labors of the accomplished Umpire, Sir Edward Thornton, all the claims laid before the commission by the respective governments were finally disposed of within that period and the business brought to a close.

It is not surprising that the commission required more than the time originally allowed for the completion of the task assigned to it. It was not until June 30, 1870, that its dockets were fully made up, and then they disclosed the existence of over 2,000 cases to be investigated and decided. The area of time covered by these cases was over twenty years. The transactions involved in them had occurred principally in the territory of the Mexican Republic, where the evidence both for the claimants and the defendant governments was chiefly to be obtained. The proofs were to be taken in two languages, those adduced by the Mexican government being wholly in the Spanish language, and when presented they were to be translated into English for the use of the commission. The documents accompanying the claims, when referred to the commission, contained very meagre information in regard either to the citizenship of the claimants or the merits of their cases. In very few instances had the claims undergone any examination previous to their reference to the commission; and no case was ready for hearing, even on the part of the claimant, when it came before the commission. It may be said that all the work of preparing the cases for hearing, as well on the part of the claimants as on the part of the governments, was to be done after the cases were placed upon the dockets.

Justice to the governments defending against the claims required that they should be allowed time for investigating the facts and obtaining evidence in answer to the claimants' proofs; and after the presentation of the defensive evidence, the same consideration rendered it proper that the claimants should be allowed some opportunity to file rebutting evidence.

It was unfortunate that no provision could be made for printing the records and the arguments in all the cases. The rules of the commission required nothing to be printed except the memorials. The proofs and the arguments were in all cases, except the few instances when the claimants or the governments incurred the expense of printing, submitted in writing, and the Commissioners, as well as the Umpire and Counsel, were obliged to study them in the original manuscripts.

The proof, if printed and bound, would no doubt have filled at least 300 octavo volumes of six hundred or eight hundred pages each.

The Spanish proofs generally, and very often the English documents, were required to be translated before the cases were ready for submission.

As disagreement between the Commissioners was the rule and agreement the exception, the decision of the Umpire was invoked in a large proportion of the contested cases; and in all the cases referred to the Umpire, two separate and independent hearings occurred upon the proofs and arguments.

The Commissioners deemed it proper, at the outset of their labors, to give reasons for their judgments and action, in carefully-prepared opinions; and this practice was followed by each of the gentlemen who acted as Umpire. The opinions of the Commissioners and the Umpire are recorded, and they will be found to contain valuable contributions to the law of international reclamations.

The functions of the commission were suspended for a time by an occurrence which transpired shortly after Mr. Commissioner Guzman took his seat as a member of the board.

Among the claims referred to the commission by the Mexican government were a large number of claims against the United States growing out of depredations alleged to have been committed in the territory of Mexico by Indians coming from the territory of the United States, between the 2d of February, 1848, and the 30th of December, 1853, the date of what is known as the Gadsden treaty.

These claims were some 366 in number, and involved an aggregate sum of over thirty-one millions of dollars. They were founded upon the supposed obligations of the eleventh article of the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo, relative to the restraint by the Government of the United States of the incursions of Indians from its territory into the territory of the Mexican Republic, and involve important questions touching the construction of the second article of the treaty of 1853.

Mr. Commissioner Wadsworth and Mr. Commissioner Palacio having failed to agree upon the questions involved in those cases, the Commissioners, on the 8th of May, 1872, filed their disagreeing opinions, and referred the claims, upon the motion of the agent of the United States to dismiss them, to the Umpire, Dr. Lieber, by an order duly entered of record, which also directed the Mexican Secretary to deliver the papers to the Umpire.

On the 24th of June following, General Guzman took his seat as a member of the commission, and the papers in these cases not having been delivered to the Umpire, General Guzman assumed the right, upon various pretenses, to interfere with the execution by the Mexican Secretary of the order of the Commissioners entered on the 8th of May.

After making every effort to maintain the authority of the board and of the Umpire, and to secure the objects of the convention, and finding Mr. Commissioner Guzman to be fixed in his determination to prevent the due execution of the order of the board of May 8, and withhold the claims for Indian depredations from the Umpire, and thus defeat the objects of the convention, Mr. Commissioner Wadsworth, on the 20th of July, 1872, filed his written protest against the action of his colleague, and referred the difficulty to the two governments, through their respective agents. The matter was adjusted by the withdrawal of General Guzman, and the appointment of Señor Zamacona as Commissioner on the part of Mexico.

That gentleman took his seat as a member of the board on August 19, 1873. Dr. Lieber having died before that time, the first duty devolving upon the board, after Mr. Commissioner Zamacona became a member of it, was the selection of an umpire.

The selection was not made until October, 1873, when the Commissioners agreed to name His Excellency Sir Edward Thornton as their Umpire.

It may be mentioned that soon afterward, the leading test case in the class of so-called Indian depredation claims (that of Rafael Aguirre vs. The United States) was submitted to the Umpire, who rendered his decision, allowing the motion to dismiss the same, filed by the agent of the United States; and, pursuant to that judgment, all the claims of that class were finally dismissed by the Commissioners.

The following is a statement of the mode in which the cases upon the two dockets were disposed of, by the action of the Commissioners and the Umpire and otherwise:

| | American docket. | Mexican docket. |
|---|---|---|
| Number of cases decided by concurrence of Commissioners Wadsworth and Palacio | 227 | 314 |
| Number of cases decided by concurrence of Commissioners Wadsworth and Guzman | 0 | 0 |
| Number of cases decided by concurrence of Commissioners Wadsworth and Zamacona | 353 | 594 |
| Number of cases decided by Dr. Lieber, as Umpire | 20 | 15 |
| Number of cases decided by Sir Edward Thornton, as Umpire | 398 | 62 |
| Number of cases consolidated with other cases | 12 | 13 |
| Number of cases withdrawn, as arising too late, or for other reasons | 7 | 0 |
| Totals | 1,017 | 998 |

Of the American claims decided by concurrence between Commissioners Wadsworth and Palacio, money awards were made in 40, and 187 were dismissed; while of the Mexican claims decided by concurrence of the same Commissioners, money awards were made in 154, and 160 were dismissed.

Commissioners Wadsworth and Zamacona concurred in money awards in favor of 3 American claimants, and in the dismissal of 350 American claims; while of the Mexican claims, they concurred in making money awards in 8 cases, and in the dismissal of 586 cases.

It appears from the foregoing table that Sir Edward Thornton decided 460 cases. He states in his final opinion that he had decided 464 cases. The discrepancy of four cases arises, no doubt, from the fact that several cases were referred to him twice, once upon some preliminary question, such as citizenship, and again upon the merits.

The cases were investigated by Sir Edward Thornton with conscientious care, without the aid and the facilities afforded by printed records and printed arguments; and the four hundred and odd opinions from his pen in the records of the commission, manifest the labor, ability, diligence and intelligence with which he performed his arduous duties.

The evidence in the cases of the American claims against Mexico was taken, and the special arguments in those cases on the facts were prepared by the private agents or counsel of the claimants, the Agent of the United States assuming no responsibility in regard to the proofs.

In many cases of that class, however, involving general or important questions of law, especially of public law, affecting classes of cases, the agent of the United States deemed it his duty to prepare such arguments upon those questions, as he thought would be useful to the Commissioners and the Umpire.

A considerable period of time, at the outset of the commission, before the completion of the proofs, was occupied in the discussion of general questions of law raised by way of exceptions, or motions to dismiss in the nature of demurrers to the memorials.

This discussion was conducted almost wholly by written or printed arguments between the agents of the two governments.

But in the cases of the Mexican claims against the United States, the duty and responsibility of preparing the defense of the government devolved throughout entirely upon the Agent of the United States. He endeavored to make a thorough investigation of those claims through all accessible sources of information, and to collect and present to the commission, all evidence in answer to them, in the possession of the government, or obtainable by the examination of witnesses cognizant of the transactions. With this view special agents, by his advice, were sent out to Mexico by the government, charged with the duty of investigating several of the more important classes of Mexican claims in the localities where they were said to have arisen, and much valuable and important testimony was thus obtained and laid before the commission, on the part of the United States.

It would require careful reports of the cases to exhibit the difficulty, variety and importance of the questions, both of fact and municipal and public law, submitted to the determination of this commission, and the results of the decisions rendered by the Commissioners and the Umpires.

The Commissioners, at the outset of their labors, as has been stated, deemed it proper to state the reasons for their decisions in written opinions carefully prepared after the submission of the cases upon the evidence, and the written or printed arguments of counsel. This practice was adopted by each of the gentlemen who acted as umpire.

The Commissioners wrote out their opinions, not only in those cases where they were able to agree, but also in those cases where they failed to agree, and called the Umpire to their assistance.

Where they were able to agree as to the disposition proper to be made of a particular case, their opinion was sometimes prepared and delivered by one member of the board, while in most such cases they filed separate opinions. Where they differed, each Commissioner habitually stated, more or less at length, his own views in writing, and the opinions of the two Commissioners were transmitted, with the documents, evidence and arguments of counsel on file in the particular case, to the Umpire, who had thus before him in writing the conflicting views and arguments of the two Commissioners.

The opinions of the Commissioners and the Umpires were recorded by the Secretaries in both languages, and fill several large books now in the possession of the Department.

It may be deemed proper at some future time to print the more important opinions, and then an intelligible and useful report of the cases adjudged by the commission may be prepared.

A book of such reports would be found useful to the government and all future commissions in the investigation and decision of international claims.

In closing this report, I feel constrained to express my sincere acknowledgments and profound thanks to you, Mr. Secretary, for the great and unfailing courtesy and kindness which I have received from you throughout the whole period when it was my duty and my pleasure alike to confer with you or to receive your instructions in regard to the business of the commission. I shall always remember with pleasure the patient consideration you gave to every subject connected with that business, which I had occasion to bring before you, and the wisdom of all your suggestions, whenever I sought your advice, not only on account of the personal obligations under which your kindness placed me, but because I obtained some slight insight into those high qualities which have enabled you to crown your administration of the foreign affairs of the country with great achievements.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. HUBLEY ASHTON.

Hon. HAMILTON FISH,
Secretary of State.

FROM

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

COMMUNICATING,

In answer to a Senate resolution of February 13, 1877, a statement of appropriations and expenditures, civil and miscellaneous, of the Department of State, from March 4, 1789, to June 30, 1876.

---

FEBRUARY 21, 1877.—Read, ordered to lie on the table, and be printed.

---

To the Senate of the United States:

I transmit herewith, in answer to the resolution of the Senate of the 13th instant, a report from the Secretary of State, with accompanying papers.

U. S. GRANT.

WASHINGTON, February 15, 1877.

---

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
Washington, February 15, 1877.

The Secretary of State, to whom was referred the resolution of the Senate of the 13th instant, requesting the President, "if not incompatible with the public interest, to transmit to the Senate a statement of the appropriations and expenditures, civil and miscellaneous, of the Department of State, from the 4th of March, 1789, to June 30, 1876; and also a statement of appropriations and expenditures on account of foreign intercourse for the same period," has the honor, in reply thereto, to transmit herewith statements embracing the information called for by the resolution.

Respectfully submitted.

HAMILTON FISH.

To the PRESIDENT.
